Gettysburg.

Our President has now the support of Congress in his contention with the German government. This will probably give him a more rigid backbone and also inform the Kaiser that Americans are not fighting his battles in his war against almost the whole world.

We have not formulated any program for the celebration of St. Patrick's Day, which occurs next Friday, but when the day arrives I doubt not our people will not fail to honor the day. Many people think that day is the proper time to sow cabbage seed to insure a hardy crop of that vegetable, and I suppose considerable muscle will be employed on that day committing the seed to the ground as very many people believe in getting the most and best of everything.

P. B. Miller and wife partook of a bounteous dinner yesterday at the home of C. J. Miller. They pronounced it good, and I think it was, as I believe they are both good judges of things of that kind.

C. J. Miller and wife and several of our young people attended the revival meeting held at Horatio last night and report good interest being manifested.

Our M. E. Sunday school had an attendance yesterday of 121, of which number 80 were on time. Our superintendent has planned a boom, and to give it effect gave out the following matter for consideration, viz: All present on time every Sunday. Goal, 200 attendance on Easter Sunday. Will this be accomplished? It is no impossibility, and the recruits needed for the purpose can easily be secured with the necessary effort, and that there will be no failure goes without saying. Our M. E. people have a faculty to execute whatever is undertaken. This is now determined upon, and it will be done. Look and work for it and it will be accomplished.

Mrs. P. B. Moul accompanied her daughter Mildred to Columbus last week to locate her for a session at a school of oratory conducted there, and returned home last Friday.

Are we to have war with Mexico? From recent events it would seem the margin for escape is very narrow and the dogs of war may be let loose almost any moment. But let us hope it may not occur. The offense given seems very grave and calls for redress, but whatever may be inflicted upon Mexico by our nation, let it be punitive only, and when that is given them let a halt be called and there stop. But, good people may differ as to what would be a proper measure of punitive punishment or what would be deemed sufficient. An extreme measure would be to such extent as to deter them, or any of them, from ever venturing again on a like expedition or attempt anything similar to it. Let Villa be put hors de combat, and the end of that trouble will rest upon us.

Savona.

As we have never seen any news in the Journal from our little village we think it proper to try and let the outside world know that this burg is still on the map and as wide awake as others of larger size and greater pretensions.

While the world at large is feeling the effects of the great war waves as they roll from the center of the strife, we are as tranquil as though nothing of importance was transpiring to mar the peace and happiness of this beautiful world.

We noticed some signs of spring a few days ago—the paperhangers are getting busy, getting in supplies and otherwise making preparation for the season of the year when the men folks want to take a vacation for a week or two.

Sunday evening, March 5, we were treated to a very fine missionary program at our U. B. church. There were two addresses by visiting ladies that were of exceptional merit, both from an educational and instructive standpoint.

Joe Pierce is visiting relatives in Oklahoma for a fortnight.

J. R. Whittington moved to the vicinity of Greenville on Tuesday of last week.

Orville Bilhimer has moved from the Simmons farm to the vicinity of New Madison, and W. A. Simmons, the owner, now occupies the farm.

Cliff Drew delivered his tobacco crop last week.

John Weisenborn of near Celina has moved to a farm near New Madison, which he recently purchased.

As we mail this, J. H. Ludy is unloading a car of household goods, which he is moving to Mrs. Clara Crawford's farm, southeast of town.

Quite a few of our citizens were Greenville shoppers last Saturday. Among the number we noticed J. C. Cole, Harry Jenkins, Herman Warner, Russell Bussard, Frank Michael, and Orville Viets.

Our Sunday school is progressing fine, and we are anticipating the time when it will become the leading school of the county.

"Well, it will be a case of 'a fool and his money soon parted.' His wife is suing for a separation."

SCIENCE—INVENTION.

Machine For Testing Cloth.

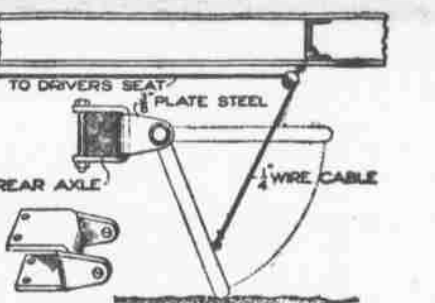

A machine for testing the wearing quality of cloth has been produced in Bradford, England. It may be found of interest to American firms which manufacture, sell or use textile fabrics. Relative wearing qualities of different prices of cloth may be determined by placing them in the machine and giving them a uniform number of rubs, perhaps 250 each. This makes it possible to compare one kind of cloth with its imitation or to compare cloth samples of the same character from different mills. A piece of cloth is clamped in a rigid jaw and passes over a rubbing surface formed by dull blades set in a cylinder. This cylinder makes one revolution clockwise, then one in the opposite direction, and this is recorded by a counter as one rub. The other end of the cloth is clamped to a roller on which is placed the quadrant, from which any number of weights can be suspended and thus put the cloth in tension. The machine can be driven by an electric motor. When the cloth is worn through the machine automatically stops. —Commerce Report.

Protection Against Lightning.

The bureau of standards, department of commerce, has just issued a report of a survey of statistical data relating to life and property hazards from lightning and also of existing methods of protection against lightning. The field covered does not include electrical power and signal systems, but does include buildings of various kinds, precautions to be observed by persons in thunderstorms and interesting information in regard to lightning. The paper is, in the main, designed for the layman, although some parts of it are of necessity rather technical. The net result of the investigation is to show by means of reliable statistics that lightning, when properly installed, is a trustworthy means of protecting property against lightning. Copies of the report, which is known as technical paper No. 56, may be procured free from the bureau of standards, Washington.

Sprag For Automobile Truck.

Considerable trouble was encountered by the owner of an automobile delivery truck, in an extremely hilly country, in keeping the truck stopped without locking the brakes, says Popular Mechanics. This caused a great deal of wear and expense, and some person suggested that a sprag should be installed. The sketch shows the manner in which it was attached. The sprag rod was made of a piece of one and one-quarter inch cold rolled steel, and was hinged at its upper end on a U shaped bracket. The rise and fall of the sprag was controlled by the driver at the front by means of a foot button and cable.

Faulty Valve Cap Joints.

It would surprise many motorists to find the great loss of compression due to faulty valve cap joints. To test for leaks apply soap suds as being cleaner than oil, and the difficulty in making them fairly gas tight must be experienced to be appreciated. After following the usual course, thoroughly cleaning the seating, etc., apply a fairly liberal dose of gold size on both sides of the copper and asbestos washer, but even this often fails to remedy the trouble. Perhaps some one can give a better "tip." —Automobile Dealer and Repairer.

Automobile Squeaks.

One frequently hears a series of squeaking noises when driving a car, and upon careful examination the trouble cannot be found. Nearly always the squeaks are caused by the body bolts and nuts loosening up a little. The body, being an extremely heavy part of the car, has a natural tendency to work loose from the chassis frame, and for this reason secure locking means should always be provided on the various nuts. —Popular Mechanics.

The Careful Driver.

The automatic spark advance not only does the work accurately, but it does not forget, says the Automobile Dealer and Repairer. If a driver gives proper attention to steering the car, varying the throttle, applying the brakes and watching the road ahead, he will not have much time left to manipulate the spark lever or talk to passengers.

Adjusting Vibrator Springs.

The owner who is using vibrator coils will find that any excessive current consumption is due to excessive tension of the vibrator springs. The spring adjustment should be loosened until the motor begins to miss and then slowly tightened again until regular firing is resumed.

Protecting Iron or Steel.

Boiling an iron or steel article in a gallon of water to which have been added four ounces of phosphoric acid and an ounce of iron filings will have the effect of giving it a black, noncorroding coating.
